Interdepartmental PhD Emphasis in Environment & Society

IPEES Symposium
Friday, November 17, 2017

9:30am Buffet Breakfast (Bren 4016)
9:45am Welcome (Bren 4016)

10-10:50am Workshop Session 1
• Workshop 1a (Bren 4316): Zack King (Sociology) "Visions of Our Climate Future: Imagination from Above and Below"
• Workshop 1b (Bren 4202): Emily Williams (Geography) "Theory for the Science of Climate Responsibility: Intersectionality, Disproportionality, and Attribution Science within the Lifecycle of Carbon"

11-11:50am Workshop Session 2
• Workshop 2a (Bren 4316): Jessi Love-Nichols (Linguistics) "Talking about Climate Change: Identity, Stance, and Phonetic Variation"
• Workshop 2b (Bren 4202): Andrew McCumber (Sociology) "Seeing What's "Out There": Mobilities and the Managed Aesthetics of Nature"

12-1:30pm Lunch (Marine Science Institute Patio)
1:30-3pm Presentations and Q&A (Bren 4016)
• Ingrid Feeney (Anthropology) "Ni una Fumigada Más: Burgeoning Articulations of the Environmental and Reproductive Justice Movements in Argentina"
• Theo Lequesne (Global Studies) "Keeping It In The Ground: Challenging Petro-Hegemony on the Frontlines of Climate Justice"

For more information about the symposium or the emphasis, please visit us at www.es.ucsb.edu/phd.